Flood Imperils Newport

Workers Fight To Save City

CINCINNATI—AP)—The flood crest of the Ohio river swung down on Cincinnati today while across the river at Newport, Ky., workers fought an around-the-clock battle against the rising water.

Newport city police said townspeople and 640 soldiers would win their fight to keep the Licking river from an area housing 10,000 persons. But, it was an enormous task.

Weary workers had piled sandbags eight to 10 feet high for 2,000 feet, and were piling them a foot higher as added precaution. The Licking joins the Ohio near Cincinnati.

Two high school girls—Mary Jane Burchett, 16, and Wanda Mowery, 17—drowned at Friendship, O., nine miles downstream from Portsmouth, O., last night. They were sightseeing with four others in a boat that overturned. The other four were rescued.

The toll of human life now stands at four. Two earlier deaths were attributed indirectly to the flood.

At Newport, Catlettsburg, Ashland and Covington—at a dozen towns along the Kentucky shore—relief agencies cared for the homeless by the hundreds.

31,000 AFFECTED

The Red Cross at Cincinnati said last night that some 31,000 persons had been affected by the flood in four states. The agency gave these figures:

Kentucky: 21 counties hit, 3,123 families evacuated, 20 emergency shelters in operation, and more than 16,000 persons affected.

Ohio: 14 counties hit, 2,106 families evacuated and 21 shelters in operation.

West Virginia: eight counties hit, 745 families evacuated, nine shelters in operation.

Indiana: eight counties hit, 254 families evacuated, and more expected as the crest approaches. Four shelters now in operation, others available.

The report did not include families that moved themselves and families that have moved into second floor rooms in flooded areas. No estimate of those families was available.

The river crested here at noon, topping 64 feet.

Behind the crest, back along West Virginia and in Pennsylvania, the worst was past. The Ohio was falling from Pittsburgh to Point Pleasant, W. Va., and stood stationary at Gallipolis, O., Huntington, W. Va., Ashland and Catlettsburg, Ky.

Arab Ruler Enters Fight

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan—(UP)—King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan said today that he will send his Arab legion into Palestine to fight what he called "the Russian and Jewish menace to the Arab world.

Abdullah said in an interview that he had been advised that Russian commanders "are leading the Jews in Palestine" and said that the critical situation there would cause him to take active measures to assist Palestine Arabs.

Abdullah's British-trained, British-officered, British-equipped Arab legion of about 20,000 men is the most powerful striking force in the Arab world.

It is the only army of any considerable size in this part of the world, except the rapidly evacuating British in Palestine

Order Gives Bulging Army Men a Break

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Army officers with bulging waistlines got a break today.

They may now hide their paunches with a regulation blouse or coat instead of the trim and tight-fitting Eisenhower jacket.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff, today issued a general order permitting a return to the prewar officer's blouse.

Many older officers with rounded anatomies complained that they didn't look too well in the youthful battle jacket. Buttoned tight it slid up over their paunches.

Bradley's new order also restored to use such optional fancy uniforms as the blue dress, blue mess, special evening dress, white dress and white mess garbs of the peacetime army officers

The enlisted men got one innovation. They now may wear either tropical worsted blouse, trousers and cap in the summer or the usual cottons.

Green lay unidentified until yesterday afternoon, when his brother-in-law, Louis Vance, made positive identification.

City Tries New Parking Plan

Meter Time Shortened

Traffic Commissioner Frend C Boals announced today that, starting Monday, the first parking meter in each corner in the business district will be a 12-minute meter.

"We hope by this measure to relieve the parking problem to some degree by eliminating some of the double parking and to provide parking space for persons who must stop only for a short time in the business district," Boals said.

The idea of 12-minute meter was first brought out in Commissioner Boals's annual report. He said today that the idea has worked successfully in many western cities.

Approximately 50 meters will be affected by the change and they will be painted an identifying copper color and will be clearly marked as 12-minute meters.

Boals said the 12-minute meters are the only part of his program that he can put into effect without council legislation.

He added that when Vurnon Johnson, Cleveland traffic engineer, submits his report to the Chamber of Commerce, he feels that a satisfactory plan can be worked out and the program can be put into high gear Johnson recently completed a two-day survey of Mansfield's traffic problem.

Train Crash Kills Twenty

30 Injured In English Tragedy

CREWE, England—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed and 30 hurt early today, railroad officials reported, when a Glastow-to-London fast mail struck a standing passenger express.

Survivors said a passenger had stopped the express 20 minutes before by pulling an emergency cord. They did not say why.

U. N. Urges Truce Move

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—The United Nations security council today told the Jews and Arabs to stop fighting in Palestine, but there is no indication either faction will abide by the order.

The final vote come at 2 19 a m (EST) after five and a half hours of debate and paragraph-by-paragraph balloting. The emergency night session started only a few hours after adjournment of the first meeting of a special general assembly session on the Palestine problem.

Four provisions were passed unanimously. On two, Russia and the Ukraine abstained.

Says 'Not Guilty' In Sex Death

MEDINA—(INS)—Clark Hill, 19-year-old Medina youth, today pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder charge in connection with the "love-potion" slaying of Jeannette Weimer, 17, of neighboring Mogadore.

The not-guilty plea was entered for the former Ohio State university student by Attorney Raymond Bennett, former Medina county prosecutor, at a hearing before Medina Mayor Loren F Wainwright

Bennett withdrew an application for Hill's release on bond after the proposal was opposed by County Prosecutor William G. Batchelder jr. Hill was remanded to the county jail to await action of the May 3 grand jury.

Batchelder announced yesterday that Hill confessed murdering the girl in an improvised gas chamber after drugging her with a veterinary aphrodisiac early last Saturday.

The prosecutor said that Hill admitted administering the sex-stimulant to Miss Weimer in a milkshake before indulging in intimacies with her.

After the girl collapsed from the effects of the drugs, Batchelder said, Hill thought she was dead and piped carbon monoxide fumes into his car to fake an accident.

Authorities became suspicious of Hill's story when it was found there was no trace of carbon monoxide poison in his blood.

Best Plans Own Appeal

BOSTON—(UP)—Robert H. Best prepared his own appeal today from his conviction of wartime treason against the United States.

Sentence was deferred indefinitely yesterday but Best already planned to appeal on grounds he had been "kidnaped" and illegally returned to America in December 1946 by U. S. Army authorities

Best went to work in his cell at the U. S. marshal's office as soon as he was taken from the courtroom after his conviction.

His sister, Louise Best, a Methodist school director in Brazil, gave him a sisterly kiss and patted his cheek.

"You don't need to worry about me, madame," Best said "Your brother is now a convict"

Asked if he intended to try to bring his Australian wife, the former Anna Maurer of Corinthia, to the United States, Best said. "Now, I'm a convict. I have no rights. She'll have to make out as best she can I suppose the Reds will seize her and she'll disappear like the others."

The 12-man jury which convicted Best decided he had sold his services to the Nazis as a radio commentator with the intent to talk American citizens and soldiers into a negotiated peace with Germany

3 Nations To Share Increase

Trieste Issue Again Pressed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—On the eve of the Italian elections, the economic cooperation administration said today $20,424,000 more in food, coal and other commodities will be shipped to that country, France and the Netherlands.

Paul G Hoffman, ECA chief, said these shipments will be in addition to $37,877,000 in aid authorized for the three countries earlier this week. The money for purchases comes from the new European recovery program.

Hoffman listed these allotments to the three countries under the shipping schedule:

To France: coal, $5,658,000; wheat flour, $5,650,000

To Italy: coal, $6,000,000; wheat flour, $1,130,000; soya flour, $410,000, rolled oats, $562,000.

To the Netherlands: wheat, $1,014,000.

The total for France is $11,308,000 and to Italy $8,102,000.

The western powers, meanwhile, have made a third demand on Russia for a yes-or-no answer on the question of returning Trieste to Italy.

Just six hours before the formal wind-up of the Italian campaign, in which the communists are bidding for control, the United States, Britain and France in effect called on Moscow yesterday to quit stalling over their proposal to turn Trieste back to Italy.

The western demand served as a final reminder to millions of Italians voting Sunday that Russia blocks the way to the border city's return.

CLOSING STROKE

The closing diplomatic stroke climaxed a long series of measures aimed at winning friends for western democracy in the strategic nation.

Meanwhile in Rome, the Italian interior minister held out a threat today to suspend this week end's fateful election "if the liberty of the vote should be compromised"

The election tomorrow and Monday, seating the first parliament of the Italian republic, will test whether Italy is to line up with Russia or the west

A popular front led by the communists has striven to oust a moderate coalition government under the Christian Democrats.

Public security forces variously announced as between 300,000 and 400,000 guarded the election-eve peace the country over today.

Mario Scelba, whose interior ministry controls police, said in his last campaign speech here last night:

"The government will be on the watch. If the liberty of the vote should be compromised, it would not hesitate to take the most radical measures, even the suspension of the elections"

Meat Packer Quits Parley

CHICAGO—(UP)—Armour and Company flatly refused today to negotiate "any further" in the nationwide meat strike but other members of the Big Four agreed to "keep trying."

Armour announced its stand shortly before four strikers were arrested last night for beating a Swift and Company employe and threatening an Armour worker.

It said "negotiations are over and we shall now restore operations in our plants." The union's failure to accept its "fair" offer was given as the firm's reason.

Direct negotiations to end the month-old walkout were resumed this week at the personal request of President Truman Swift, Wilson, and Cudahy said they would continue to try to reach a settlement

Farm Price Support Extension Favored

WASHINGTON—(AP)— The House Agriculture committee voted unanimously Friday afternoon to extend government farm price supports to June 30, 1950. The legislation now goes to the House floor for action.

Generally, farm commodities now are selling at prices above support levels. The bill would reduce the support of cotton from 92.5 per cent of parity to 90 per cent of parity. (Parity is an artificial price base designed to give farmers a purchasing power equal to that in some previous favorable period, usually 1909-1914).

This is what the committee proposes:

1. Price supports at 90 per cent of parity for the basic commodities cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts. These supports now are at 90 per cent with the exception of cotton.

2. For so-called non-basic commodities—supports ranging from 60 per cent of parity to the highest support level in force for 1948, with the exception of milk and milk products on which the support shall not be less than 90 per cent.

3. Continue government authority to impose acreage restrictions and to set marketing quotas. However, Chairman Hope (R-Kans) said that, because of the large demand for food and fiber, there is little likelihood of any marketing quotas in the next year and a half

Without the legislation, price supports on non-basic commodities will end Dec. 31.

The legislation is sponsored by Rep Hope, and was amended by the group to place milk and dairy products in the first category instead of the second 60 to 90 per cent of parity.

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn) stated that the committee decided to act now because of the dangers that the price support program might expire before the committee has been able to complete action on a long range agricultural program

Williams Play Comes To Library

'Street Car Named Desire' Available

Tennesse Williams's new play, A STREET CAR NAMED DESIRE, will be made available to Mansfield readers at the Public library Monday.

Now enjoying a successful run on Broadway, the play is a character study describing the moral deterioration and mental collapse of a Southern belle. The background is the Latin Quarter in New Orleans. Although it can't be called a pleasant play, it has power and is lightened by occasional flashes of deep humor.

RAINBOW IN TAHITI is a gay account of a Boston family's adventures in Tahiti. THE GREAT ONES by Ralph Ingersoll is the love story of two very important people. Letia Long was not born with a silver spoon in her mouth but only with a taste for one, while Sturges Strong was the somewhat maladjusted son of a moderately successful bridge builder. ENDS 38-YEAR TASK—Mrs. Anna McVicar washes for the last time the glasses on the communion trays at the First Christian church, a job she has held for more than a third of a century.

Mrs. McVicar Received Gift Blanket

Long Service With Church Rewarded

By NITA BRANSON, News-Journal Church Editor

Last Sunday morning at the First Christian church, Mrs Anna McVicar was given a beautiful blanket in recognition of her 38 years as "keeper of the communion trays" for the church

It culminated a service that began when Mrs McVicar was left a widow with four small children and the sight fee attached to the task of keeping communion trays "ship-shape" was a welcome addition to her income

Through the years she has taken her place in the kitchen of the church each Saturday afternoon to wash and prepare the trays and see that everything was in readiness for the Sunday morning communion.

Through the years she has kept on with her task after her children were grown, not because she needed the remuneration but because she loved doing that particular service to her church.

She has washed the small glasses that go with the trays, kept the linens spotlessly clean, and until three years ago, baked bread each week for the communion service.

BAKED LOAVES

"Three years ago the church council began buying wafers for communion, but until that time I baked three small loaves of unleavened bread each week, most of those years getting up early Sunday morning to do the baking," Mrs. McVicar related.

The small glasses she has washed during the 38 years run into the thousands. Myron Miller, Sunday school superintendent who made the presentation Sunday, had it figured out

"She has handled at least 25,000 glasses in that time," he explained. "She not only had to wash, but wipe and check for chips each small glass. The minute a glass is chipped it is put aside and a new one put in its place.

"Each tray," he continued, holds 45 glasses and we have used on an average of 10 trays each Sunday morning."

Mrs. McVicar stuck to her task through the years in all kinds of weather, often walking from her home on Buckingham street in freezing weather when the buses couldn't run and she would be nearly frozen when she arrived at the church.

SONS HELPED HER

"When I first started," she recalled, "two of my sons, Chester and Lester, who were quite small then, used to help me. I'd give them each a little towel. Of course, they really played more than the worked but it was one way of seeing that they were taken care of while I worked."

Many amusing things occurred during Mrs. McVicar's long service

Miller told about it, chuckling. "I remember one man asked her why there seemed to be so much water in the wine and she answered, 'If you had your mind on spiritual things, you wouldn't have noticed that.' I think her answer was a sort of classic."

Although the weekly task isn't as hard now that wafers are used as it was when she began, ill health has forced Mrs McVicar to turn over the job to someone else. But she goes it regretfully.

New Research Center Uses Eggs In Fight on Cancer

NEW YORK — Technicians in the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research grow cancers on chick embryos in the eggs.

This is part of the systematic procedure used in the search for a chemical compound which will poison abnormal cells without harming normal cells.

The 14-story laboratory has just been dedicated. Its completion gives this country an advance post in the war against the dread disease, making possible the intensive development of certain promising avenues of cancer research.

The Sloan-Kettering Institute, a division of Memorial Hospital, the pioneer in cancer treatment, is part of a cancer center of national importance which includes the Strang Prevention Clinic and the James Ewing Hospital now being built by New York City.

The Institute was built with funds from a $4,562,500 grant by Alfred P. Sloan, jr., the industrial leader, which also provides half the operating expenses for ten years.

Contributions from all parts of the country, from the American Cancer Society and from the Public Health Service have made possible many research programs.

Associated with Mr. Sloan in enlarging the research attack on cancer is Charles F. Kettering, inventor and research wizard.

Weather Map Shows How To Win Jack Frost Gamble

In most of the United States, dodging frost is a chief concern of home gardeners Is it hardy? is the question asked about every new crop which it is proposed to grow. And hardy, to the experienced gardener, does not mean strong, vigorous, easy to grow, but merely this. Is it injured by freezing?

Because so many crops are not hardy, so cannot be planted in the garden until danger of frost is over in the spring, the key date for spring gardening is the average date of the last killing frost

Every outdoor garden task must be timed with reference to this date. Of course it is never definite; seldom is it the same for two years running.

Gardeners must always take risks on the weather, but this risk can be reduced if operations each spring are based upon the experience of the past. And the experience of nearly 100 years with respect to the last killing frost in spring, is embodied in the U S weather bureau map which accompanies this article.

The date shown on the map for each of the various zones is the date after which the chances are 10 to 1 against a killing frost.

Only at the tip of Florida and the southern California coast are plants safe from frost before March 1.

And only in Florida, Texas and the southern half of California, can tender crops be planted safely before April 1.

Probably the best guidance as to the frost proof date in your own locality, is the advice of neighbor gardeners. In most localities there is a generally accepted date for setting out tender plants. This may vary for different plants Remember that even plants known to be hardy when mature, are often injured by frost in their infancy, especially when they have been started under protection from the cold.

The twenty-eighth annual reunion of Company "M" will be held at Legion hall tonight, bringing back the veterans of World War I who were discharged from the Army April 15, 1919. About 50 are expected to attend.

During World War I, Company "M" left the fairgrounds here for training at Montgomery, Ala., 150 strong Since more men were needed to bolster the company to war-time strength, a group of men from Ottawa and Toledo was added, and the two formed the old Company "M" which now celebrates. Each year on the Saturday nearest to April 15, the affair is held.

A chicken dinner will be one of the principal attractions, but old buddies will gather and recall deeds of two decades ago, to furnish their own entertainment. Some from Toledo and Ottawa are expected.

Loyd Pugh of Mansfield is president of the group and will be in charge of the meeting tonight.

Gas Supply Offer Gets No Takers

Lines Open to 2 Ohio Systems

WASHINGTON —(AP)— An offer to supply 10,500,000 more cubic feet of natural gas a day to the gas-hungry midwest was made Friday but there were no immediate takers.

The unusual twist cropped up at a power commission hearing because of widespread gas shortages last winter to see how next winter's demands can be met.

Texas Gas Transmission corporation made the offer to make the additional gas available during the summer months. The offer is good tentatively to about Oct. 1.

The catch is that pipelines are so set up that apparently only two Ohio firms—Ohio Fuel Gas company and the East Ohio Gas company- can make connections to get the fuel

Both now are supplied by Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company. If they took the 10,500,000 cubic feet, it would mean that amount could be supplied to other Panhandle customers. Some of these other customers, like Michigan Consolidated Gas company, intend to store excess Panhandle gas through the summer for use next winter

J. French Robinson, president of East Ohio Gas company, told the commission it would be impossible for his firm to "back off" its Penhandle supplies or transport other gas without interrupting normal service.

Lambert McAllister, power commission attorney, said Ohio Fuel Gas company, does not know yet whether it can take the offered gas in its system.

L. E Ingham, vice-president of Texas Transmission, testified "we can let this gas go in 15 minutes" if somebody will take it.

Edgar S. Coffman, chief of the power commission rates division, said some arrangement should be made immediately to transfer the gas to the Panhandle system.

Revolt Came As Surprise

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman says he was as surprised as anyone else about the uprising in Bogota, Colombia.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he was very sorry the rioting did happen, but he had no warning of it.

A congressional inquiry already has been started to find out whether United States intelligence agencies had advance word of the revolution and warned proper officials.

A reporter asked Mr. Truman whether he considered the revolt a warning to the Americas of the communist danger in this hemisphere.

Mr. Truman replied Secretary of State Marshall had commented on that, adding he did so very well.

Marshall, who is attending the Inter-American conference in Bogota, has blamed international communism for the uprising.

Mr. Truman said the United States had received information there might be picketing or demonstrations at the conference.

But, he added, there was no indication that anybody was going to get shot

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, APRIL 17, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—and be on the lookout for those rough railroad grade crossings.

There is a tide in the affairs of men which makes them start out to do something foolish about every so often.

Evidencing wide spread of interest, it is tomorrow's elections in Italy that are holding greatest public attention at the moment, rather than presidential preference primaries nearer home.

Flood-Control Is Continuous Problem

SPRING RAINS have again brought floods along the Ohio river and in other sections where the rush of water is unrestrained by dams and man-made lakes such as have removed or greatly lessened flood dangers in many places.

A flood is a terrifying thing, whether it comes with the rush of a mountain freshet or the slow rise of a broad river. It takes everything in its path, ruthlessly thrusting man aside in his puny efforts to stem the rising waters, and in its wake are left ruin, famine and disease.

All of the engineering devices built to control the waters are beheld with an uncertain fear when the floods come. Will the walls hold, and are they high enough? Will the huge dams stand against the lakes piling up behind them, and what will happen if the water climbs to the tops of the gates?

Even such fears are better than the certainty of flood along streams not protected by such engineering works as man can build. Every spring flood anywhere in the land should spur the nation anew to do what it can to prevent flood damage by harnessing the streams.

Mansfield Has Outgrown City Limits

EXTENSION of Mansfield's corporate limits to include South Boulevards, toward which preliminary steps are now being taken, would seem to be logical procedure, with advantages to both the city and the adjoining village.

While customary city conveniences are already available to residents of South Boulevards, this area is so naturally a part of Mansfield that it should be taken into account in whatever expansion and maintenance of municipal facilities are planned for the future, including transportation, schools, and the like.

Growth of suburban Mansfield in other directions also suggests reviving the subject of extending city limits at other points—with East Mansfield as a long-time subject of discussion as to advisability of annexation.

Mansfield's city public school system has already been extended beyond the bounds of corporation lines, and there seems to be growing sentiment for making the Mansfield and Madison township school districts coextensive—which is at least an interesting subject for further consideration.

Red Cross Quota Reached–At Last

BELATED completion of the Mansfield and Richland county Red Cross campaign—with the goal of $58,000 finally reached—presents a situation that needs be recognized and given attention, so that the way may be cleared for next year's Red Cross canvass with fewer obstacles to success than marked this year's campaign.

First of all, it must be taken for granted that the national Red Cross and its local units perform vitally important tasks and must be sustained. It is fair, therefore, to assume that the people of Mansfield and Richland county are obligated to share equably in providing financial support—which is not burdensome if all persons who can afford to do so make a contribution in accord with their means.

Persons who withhold contributions, because of objections to some national Red Cross policies or practices, merely place an extra load on others, and also increase the work of volunteer canvassers who give liberally of their time during the campaign period.

Rather than dragging through to mid-April, it would have been reasonable to expect the Mansfield and Richland county Red Cross quota to be reached by the middle of March, as was done in a number of other Ohio cities—and that objective may well be aimed toward next year.

Another Auto Price Boost Sighted

ANNOUNCEMENT by one automobile manufacturer that there's to be another price increase is expected to be followed by others to the same effect—right at a time when prospective buyers had been hopeful that inflation had reached its peak and that prices would start showing a downward trend.

With the coal strike cutting production; with steel and other materials costing more, and with pressure for even higher wages, argument for another boost in car prices seems logical enough—especially when it is taken into account that production of new cars is still falling far short of demands and makers of standard-sized popular motor vehicles have customers waiting for all they can manufacture.

Not until there is much nearer approach to equalizing supply with demand, or until buyer resistance becomes much more impressive than has yet appeared, can return of really competitive prices be expected in the automotive field—although slackened demand for used cars at fabulous prices may evidence a trend toward more careful scrutiny by prospective buyers.

Self-Propelled Wheel Chair Coming

NEW independence for wheel chair invalids is promised through the invention of a Cleveland manufacturer. It is an electric-powered wheel chair, small enough to be used indoors for the conventional uses of the familiar hand-driven chair, but self-propelled and requiring the use of only one hand to guide and control it.

It appears to be one of those machines so needed, so useful and so simple that it is odd that it was not developed by someone long ago.

Many devices have been created to increase the comfort and the usefulness of invalids and handicapped persons, but many others no doubt remain to be invented.

A buyers' strike against $2 haircuts is said to be developing in Alaska—but why should anyone in Alaska want a haircut more than once a year?

Congressmen are being asked to "take a firm stand on oleo," but some of them are finding this to be a slippery position.

As Claude Callan points out: "Telling others how to do a lot of things is much easier than doing one thing yourself."

Washington Calling

Stassen Becomes Target of GOP Rivals

By MARQUIS CHILDS

FROM here on out, the race for the Republican presidential nomination is bound to grow more personal and more bitter. The target for attack from within the GOP will be Harold Stassen, who has proved in Nebraska, as he did in Wisconsin, that he is becoming the party's foremost vote-getter.

Up to this point the race has been a cozy affair, with the candidates running against President Truman. That, incidentally, is one of the reasons for the toboggan slide in Mr. Truman's prestige and popularity. With the returns from the Nebraska primary, any resemblance to a friendly family contest is out of the window.

Stassen is the winner. Nothing succeeds like success.

Yet at the same time a personal equation must be taken into account, since it has a direct bearing on whether oh not Stassen will eventually get the nomination.

He is heartily disliked and resented by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. Robert A. Taft, who were respectively No. 2 and No. 3 at the Nebraska finish line. Both men feel that Stassen has gone out of his way to affront them.

Taft was angered when Stassen announced he would enter the Ohio presidential primary, which is on May 1. This was a violation of the professional code, which says that a candidate is not to be challenged in his own home state.

The feeling was increased when Stassen let it be known that Taft had personally challenged his right to come in to Ohio. The account of how Taft angrily chided his rival at a private meeting in Washington did not add to the Taft sense of dignity.

Moreover, it seems likely that Stassen will win some delegates in Ohio. He has carefully chosen the districts in which he is contesting, with an eye to labor and liberal support from those who would like to see Taft humiliated on his own doorstep. If Stassen should get 5 or 6 Ohio delegates, he would look even stronger than he looks today. And Taft would have even more cause to be resentful.

* * *

Deep-Seated Resentment.

DEWEY'S close friends say that he can never forgive Stassen for what he regards as gratuitous attacks. Several times in recent months, Stassen has belittled the New York governor for not discussing the issues. Like the invasion of Ohio, this is taken as a violation of the professional code of behavior.

These resentments might be written off as trivial by-products of an election year if it were not for the fact that they have a direct bearing on the Republican choice at Philadelphia. No matter what happens in the primaries, both Dewey and Taft will come to Philadelphia with a pocket full of delegates.

Short of a first or second-ballot stampede to Stassen, it is highly unlikely they will release those delegates to the Minnesota giant-killer.

While a Taft-Dewey deal to make either one the nominee appears doubtful, they could throw their weight behind a third man who would not be Stassen. It is just here that the personal equation comes in.

Conceivably the third man might be Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg. His strong fourth-place showing in Nebraska is impressive in view of the fact that he has repeatedly said he does not want to be a candidate and did nothing to advance himself in the Nebraska contest.

By the same token, Taft's poor showing is all the more striking since he had the backing of Sen. Hugh Butler and Butler's organization in Nebraska.

From here on out, Stassen will have to combat the professionals—the national committee-men and committee-women, many of whom distrust him. He is not one of their kind. He is far too independent.

Sorry For Yourself?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

OF ALL the faults the human race is addicted to, the one which we're most likely to condone in ourselves and despise in the Other Fellow is self pity. When we're sorry for ourselves it's always for perfectly good reasons, but if someone else shows symptoms of the same weakness we're infuriated.

Why is this so? Why are we prone to excuse in ourselves what we condemn in others? It's because we don't stop to figure out the real reason why anyone prefers grief to happiness, humiliation to pride.

Do you feel abused all the time? Do you feel that you're not getting the treatment you deserve, the breaks that should be coming your way. If you do, can you tell just why you feel that way? Could you write down one valid instance of unfair play, where someone else actually did you dirt?

It's ten to one you can't. Chances are, if you're completely honest, you'll have to admit that you brought that bad luck upon yourself.

Then why not face it . . . stop moaning and moping and nursing those imaginary hurts? Face the world with a cheerful smile . . . tackle with new energy and confidence that job that threw you last week and come out on top!

No that takes too much will power, too much energy, too much strength of character. It's much easier to salve your wounded ego by making excuses, by complaining, by demanding sympathy. And you get by with it—or so you think.

But why should you get by with it if you're not willing to let the Other Fellow get by with the same conduct? You don't really. You may get your way, you may seem to have the sympathy of those around you, and you may even seem to bind closer to you those with whom you live and associate. But it's a completely false situation and soon or late it will fall apart.

Your relatives, your friends, your business associates will gradually grow indifferent and then they will begin secretly to resent you, and finally to despise you. What will you do then? Increase your lamentations? Invent new injuries? Take to fainting spells, break your arm or go to bed with some strange, mysterious illness?

Yes, you can get by with that too—for a while. But there will come an end to it, a time when no one will have the slightest sympathy for you even if you genuinely deserve it.

So what can you do about it? How can you avoid falling into such a deplorable morass?

You can recognize self pity for what it is, yank it out before it can take root. Refuse to feel sorry for yourself even if your house burns down, your car is wrecked and your wife runs off with your best friend.

Nobody can deny that you've had bad luck but you have a thousand times greater chance to come back and achieve health, happiness and success if you make a fresh start with a smiling face and a courageous heart than if you begin to shed bitter tears and depend on the sympathy and encouragement of your friends.

For the world loves a fighter and gives him all the breaks.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Way Being Sought To Make UN Effective

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

FROM thoughtful, worried men in and out of government have come new proposals for world peace.

In Washington a group of senators urged revamping the United Nations while there still is time. At Princeton, N. J., some of the nation's top atomic scientists called for formation of a world state—with or without Russia. The country's defense chief disclosed he placed his reliance for peace on manpower not the atom.

The senators who want to change the U.N. charter say it is the only way to make the world organization effective.

"Unless we strengthen the U.N. now," said Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R-Conn), "we soon will have lost the best machinery yet created for maintenance of peace."

Revamped U.N.

The resolution, backed by a non-partisan group of 17 senators, provides for restriction of the veto, banning of a world armaments race and setting up of an international police force manned by troops of small nations.

It stipulates that changes are to be made with approval of all member states—if possible. If that cannot be, it urges the U. S. to join other like-minded states in a more effective international organization of mutual defense—without the abstaining state or states.

A similar resolution had been introduced in the House but it was referred to the foreign affairs committee with little prospect for any further action.

Scientists for World State.

The atomic scientists, headed by Albert Einstein, advocate formation of a federal world government, even without the participation of Russia. They called for immediate diplomatic negotiations at the highest level between Russia and this country to avert collapse of traditional civilization.

Partial world government, said Dr. Einstein, might convince the Soviet Union it should join.

Alternatives to such a program, scientists agreed, are a preventive war or a two-bloc world with eventual termination in war.

They view collapse of the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission as one of the most fateful events in history, generally unrecognized by the public.

The committee said that scientists, because of their invention of the atom bomb, have a special responsibility for the tragic situation in which mankind exists today.

At Home

New Farm Laws.

The Senate opened hearings this week on a new long-range farm program that, in the words of Sen. George D. Aiken (R.-Vt.), is "probably the most important legislation before Congress this year."

In general, the program assembles all of the various federal farm acts of the last 16 years and fits them into a permanent plan.

One thing the new bill will not do is to insure farmers a profit. All it will do, says Aiken, is insure them against disaster.

In return, farmers must agree to produce adequate supplies for population and industrial needs in the new American program to aid world democracies.

Primary Battles.

Wisconsin last week, Nebraska this week. Thus, Harold E. Stassen's chances for the Republican presidential nomination were rising sensationally.

Although every student of politics knows that early pre-convention support can disappear as quickly as a campaign promise, there was no gainsaying the fact that the 41-year-old former Minnesota governor now led the GOP with decisive victories in his party's last two primary battles.

He moved into Wisconsin, where Douglas A. MacArthur was the pre-vote favorite and won 19 delegates while the general took 8 and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York got none.

This week, Stassen moved into the Nebraska free-for-all primary, where the only GOP machine that exists was plugging for Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Result: another impressive Stassen victory, with Dewey a disappointing second and Taft a poor third.

The next important Republican primary will be May 4 in Ohio where Stassen challenges Sen. Taft in his home state.

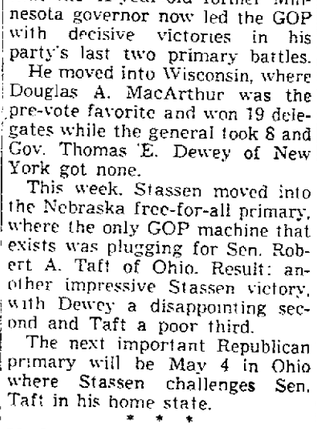
Underground Homes.

The communities of Higgins and Glazier, Tex., almost wiped out a year ago by a tornado, now are prepared against the worst from nature or man. They are equipped to live double lives—one above ground, the other below.

The twister death toll was 48 at Higgins, 17 at Glazier. Survivors said what they wanted most were underground shelters.

The simplest construction, costing $300, is a hole in the ground lined with concrete and covered with a sturdy door closing flush with the ground.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"If a woman were elected president she'd have the last word with Congress more often!"

At the other end of the scale are bunkers ranging in cost from $1,200 to $1,500.

These underground homes are equipped to withstand siege. They have ventilating fans, independent power plants, fluorescent lighting and exhaust fans. There are beds, stocks of food and even complete libraries and rumpus rooms.

Abroad

Italy's Elections.

Soviet efforts to expand her spheres of influence and countermeasures by the western allies to contain them reach a critical test in Italy tomorrow.

Pitted against each other in national elections are Italian Communists and the Christian Democratic party, backed by the Catholic church. The outcome at the polls may determine whether communism is to be halted within the present iron curtain or is to sweep on through all of western Europe.

As the balloting day drew near, the government in a patent warning to communists—reputed to have an "underground army" of nearly 100,000—paraded troops in the big industrial cities where communist strength is centered. The well-equipped soldiers were backed up by hundreds of American and British-made tanks, weapons carriers and mobile artillery.

Bogota Parley Resumes.

The Pan American conference resumed this week in the scarred and looted city of Bogota after the abortive revolt which disrupted its sessions and caused the death of 300 persons. Authorities blamed communism for the uprising.

Chile said the Colombian revolt was part of a communist master plan for May Day outbreaks in Chile and Bolivia. Chile said the plot was hatched last fall by the Cominform in Belgrade.

U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall noted that the crisis followed the same pattern as outbreaks which provoked waves of labor trouble in France and Italy.

Assignment: America

Helped By Early Start

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Behind the early victories of Harold Stassen in the Republican presidential primary races lie two key strategies which, to a large extent, appear to have been overlooked—or at least underrated—by his opponents.

They are:

1. During the time Stassen was "world-wandering" and keeping his name in the national headlines, a small army of personal followers was busy getting individual-contact promises out of voters in such places as Wisconsin and Nebraska;

2. Although short of campaign funds (comparatively speaking) at the start, Stassen reasoned that he could successfully pass the hat if he looked good in his first few tests.

Evidence that the second strategy is working can be found all along the eastern section of the country today.

Men who previously had not considered supporting the Stassen candidacy financially now are literally forming a line to make campaign contributions. Nothing, as the saying goes, succeeds like success in these matters.

And this sudden willingness on the part of the boys with the heavy sugar to kick into the kitty certainly did not catch Stassen napping. Even in states where he has not a ghost of a show of winning convention delegates, he still maintains what might be referred to as a "campaign treasurer" who is always convenient for the collecting of all contributions.

But the first strategy is the one which really turned the trick, and it shows why Stassen thought it was imperative to start campaigning early.

One of the first things the former navy officer did upon returning to civilian clothes was to wander around over the country, contacting old pals, in the service and out.

He selected key men in the various areas, community leaders who were locally respected but who often had done no previous political work of importance. And the system he used on them was the system they subsequently used on their friends and neighbors.

* * *

Here's How It's Done.

IN SHORT, they simply set out to get those friends and neighbors committed to Stassen early—before any of them had given much thought to the coming presidential campaign.

Many of the individuals who voted for Stassen in Wisconsin and Nebraska had been under promise to do that for more than a year.

A telephone call during the last few days before the primary was all that was required in those cases.

Stressing the importance of that sort of campaigning, a veteran newspaperman and political observer offered to wager the other evening that he could swing two-thirds of the people in his section of town to any given candidate.

"They're pretty evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans," he said. 'But if I started in now, trying to get them to vote Democrat or vote Republican this fall, you'd be surprised how successful I'd be—just on a personal basis. They know me, and I'd drop by of an evening and talk to them. I'd try to sell them on the candidate, of course, but mostly I'd keep stressing that I wanted them to vote my way.

"This early, most of them wouldn't have decided on how to vote, and a lot would promise me right away to vote the way I wanted—just as a favor to me. And then, without realizing it, they would turn into campaign workers for my side, since they'd be out to convince themselves that they were doing the right thing.

"Nobody works harder at convincing his friends than the man who is also trying to convince himself!

"Anyhow, by getting commitments before the heavy campaigning really gets underway, I'd have half the battle won . . ."

Which is exactly what Harold Stassen did—that, and concentrate on the first primary states, figuring that he who wins the first one will find the going easier on the second.

It seemed to be—and man, how the money rolls in!

Timely Editorial

Wasted Manpower.

On the face of it, American manpower is great enough for any conceivable demand that might be made upon it in the near future. As both World wars showed, the manpower is there once it is called upon. By the very nature of democracy, however, it is somewhat slow to get under way in an emergency.

For two reasons this great pool of available manpower can never be counted upon 100 per cent. One is because of the hundreds of thousands who are weeded out for physical shortcomings. This is bad enough but literally another army could be made up of those who have had enough schooling to qualify them for the armed forces.

This rather shocking fact was pointed up recently by the National Education Association. It reported that a total of 659,392 men were rejected in the last war for educational deficiency.

For a long time now this nation has prided itself on the literacy of its people. But the fact referred to is proof that education still has a big job to do.—Ohio State Journal.

Griffith Says Presidents Vary In Their Baseball Pitching Skill

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Presidents are fine people. Some of 'em are good pitchers; in the fine old American game of baseball, that is.

We've had some dandy flippers across the years and a few with washer-woman windups, too. History of same was brought into sharp relief today by Clark Griffith, head man of the Washington Senators baseball club.

The gray-haired bushy-browed old captain of the dugout was a pitcher once himself. He's seen the Presidents come and throw—to coin a phrase—since William Howard Taft, who was the first President of the White House ever called upon to open a baseball season.

The 79-year-old (almost) Griffith is flexing his muscles in preparation for the start of the 1948 season here Monday. All he has to do is to stir up strength enough to hand President Truman a ball. Mr. T. will do the rest.

"There, sir, is a pitcher," said old Griff, during an interview. "He can let go with either hand. Somebody will pick him up on waivers if his big uncle ever turns him loose."

★

Nobody knows how Pitcher Harry is going to act come Monday. He told the boys in the press coop he'd likely wind up from the starboard side this time. Maybe he will. We'll see.

Mr. Griffith settled back in his comfortable leather couch at Griffith stadium and thought back across the years from 1912.

Taft: He was the second pitcher on th estaff of the Cincinnati Reds. Came the big day of the season, as Griff recalls it. A playoff and the mother of the No. 1 hurler dies. Taft was sent in. They murdered him out there, brother. He went in and handed his flannels and glove to the boss. And from there, indirectly, he went to the White House.

Mr. Griffith allows that Woodrow Wilson was all right as a pitcher of the first ball. And Harding?

There, sir, was another baseball man. Mr. Harding was a former owner of the Marion, O., team in the old Ohio State league and played a spot of baseball, too.

Cal Coolidge was kind of a tippy-up guy when it came to pitching in the first ball. But that was understandable. The baseball member of his family was his lovely wife, Grace. She had gone to a fashionable eastern school. According to Griffith, she was the "best score keeper in the place."

And Hoover: He once hit a cameraman on third base.

★

After that was the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who used to be a baseball player. FDR used to try to burn out the pitcher, Griffith said. He used to haul off and see if he could knock the pitcher off the mound.

Mr. Truman has a big job ahead of him.

He has precedent to worry about.

It's a fair game.

Batterup, play ball!

2 Mill Race Bridges Ordered Out

Structures Give Way To Changing Times

Removal of two bridges that once spanned a mill race near Butler has been ordered by county commissioners on the recommendation of County Engineer Walter E. Rusk.

The bridges, on the Gatton Rocks road, carried traffic over the abandoned Plank mill race near Butler. The mill has long since been dismantled. Water no longer flows in the mill race.

Parts of the channel of the mill race, about 10 feet wide and seven feet deep, will be filled in, including areas on the lands of Duane and Lenora Kunkle, Karl and Audra Miller and Glen Gatton of Bellville.

The Kunkles, the Millers and Gatton were given $1 each for quit claim deeds to their water rights to the mill race.

Commissioners ordered payment of $45 to Attorney Vance Stuller of Bellville for completing the legal work concerned with the quit claim deeds.

The engineer was authorized to install a pipe culvert under Gatton Rocks road near State Route 97.

The landowners will be given use of a county tractor, equipped with a bulldozer blade, and also a power grader, to fill in the channel on their properties.

The will was dated Jan. 6, 1948. That also was given as the date of his marriage to Mrs. Dibble, his second wife, according to probate court records. The marriage license stated that he was divorced from his first wife.

Left to each of his three daughters by his first marriage were 25 shares of common stock in the Carton Service, Inc., Shelby. Dibble, who died March 31, was president and general manager of the firm.

The daughters are Mrs. Raymond Baker, Shelby; Mrs. Howard Williams and Mrs. Leo O'Neil, both of Jackson, Mich.

Call Tells of Car Theft

Hit-Skipper Leaves Auto At Dead-End

When sheriff's deputies called the Richland county Automobile club yesterday to check the identity of the owner of auto license WO-77, Mrs. Albert J. Kraus of 423 East Townview circle, answered.

"Why that's my husband's car," she said. "But he's at work at Westinghouse."

Deputies checked at Westinghouse. That's when Kraus learned his car had been stolen shortly after 2 p. m. from the plant parking lot.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn Humphrey said the stolen Kraus car crashed into the back of a truck on Bowman street road at Crestline avenue.

Witnesses said the driver raced the car down Crestline avenue only to run into a dead-end. Then he drove across an alley and down Shelby avenue, but again found a dead-end.

There he abandoned the car, witnesses said, and fled towards town.

Three of the witnesses were to furnish deputies with a description of the driver of the stolen car today. Deputies said they located the driver of the truck-trailer that was hit.

Kraus got his car back, a 1947 convertible sedan, with the radiator grill work caved in.

County court officials explained that if the money isn't paid, the state would be in a position to order sale of the property.

Payment of Bills Delayed By Dispute

By GEORGE COMINOS

While Mansfield and Richland county try to straighten out their relief squabble, General hospital officials are wondering who's going to pay $8.000 in hospital bills incurred by relief clients.

The bills have been piling up since September, 1945, hospital spokesmen said.

Uncertainty as to which of the bills are for transients and which cover permanent disability cases is delaying payment of the amount.

A committee was appointed to recommend a basis for paying the more than 50 bills. The committee will attempt to determine which subdivision is responsible for different types of bills.

Named to the committee were Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch, Relief Director William Johns and Mrs. Dale L. Gaster, representing the hospital.

John W. Selby, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said the county was willing to pay for whatever cases the committee assigns to it.

He said the committee would not meet to make a decision on the cases until it knew that the bills would be recognized.

CITY PAYS PART

Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan said the city about a year ago paid about $4.000 in bills. He said he believed the present unpaid bills consist of 'permanent disability' and 'transient' relief cases.

He said if any of the cases were found to be city cases it would be up to city council to approve payment.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent of the hospital, said the bills cover the period from September, 1945 through 1947.

"The hospital needs the money," he said.

Proposal For 'Deal' Disclosed

Biddle Pleads For 'Bun' Drye

Testimony regarding a proposition to a state liquor agent, that went uncontested and undenied, cost Charles "Bun" Drye, owner and manager of Bun's Place, 97 East Sixth street, $400 and costs yesterday in municipal court.

The fine was levied against Drye by Judge H. H. Schettler on charges of being a keeper of a place where intoxicating liquor was sold illegally.

Ending on a victorious note for the prosecution, the case was virtually closed against Drye with the testimony of State Liquor Inspector Ralph Bannerman, key witness called by City Solicitor C. L. Kalbfleisch.

"I told Bun (Drye) he was under arrest and that he'd have to come along with Ealey," (Robert Ealey, 277 South Diamond street, was fined $300 and costs earlier yesterday for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor.) "Bun told me I didn't have to take him, too—to take just Ealey and that he (Bun) would plead Ealey guilty," Bannerman testified.

NO DENIAL OFFERED

This statement went uncontested by Drye's attorney, George W. Biddle, and undenied by the defendant.

In summing up the case, Judge Schettler stated that it seemed illogical that anyone who professed not employing a man and knowing him only as a customer, would plead him guilty on such a charge.

Throughout the case, Drye professed that Ealey was not employed at the night spot, and that he knew him only through "two or three times a week" visits to the place for "sandwiches."

Two other state agents, along with Bannerman, testified they entered the upstairs portion of the establishment in the company of "Bun's younger brother." Additional testimony brought out that Drye surrendered two pints of whisky from a hollow "tea table" in his apartment-resident on the second floor.

SELLS TO AGENT

An agent, who scouted the place before the raid on April 3, said he was given a shot glass of an unknown brand of whisky when he asked Earley if he "could get a drink here." The agent said he had first asked for a beer, which turned out to be near-beer in an unlabeled bottle.

The shot glasses, the agent testified, were produced from beneath a towel in the kitchen, covering several more shot glasses and "rinse glasses." Change received from the $5 given to Ealey for the drink was four one-dollar bills and a half dollar.

Other than the whisky given to the agent in the glass and the two pints surrendered by Drye, no other intoxicants were produced in the raid. Agents said they found broken several whisky bottles in an outside rubbish can.

Pleading the innocence of his client, Biddle sought to pin the guilt on Ealey as "pocket bootlegging."

TESTIFY ON 'UPSTAIRS'

"One drink can't make a place wet—the flats will never be dry—not since the Irish ran the corner saloons. I was born down there, so I know the place just a little," the defense attorney stated.

Seemingly the most sensitive spot in the whole hearing was when mention was made of the upstairs portion of Bun's Place. Asked by Kalbfleisch what they observed when they searched the second floor, all agents said they were led into a long corridor, from which a series of doors opened. Some of the doors were closed, they said. The doors that were open showed only living quarters.

The agents said they observed a man in one of the rooms, putting on his coat. They added that a girl came out of a bathroom as Drye's brother opened the door. All agents testified that there was considerable "commotion" on the second floor at the time of their search for liquor.

AIDS HOUSING, HE SAYS

Biddle explained the upstairs rooms by telling the court:

"Many are meeting the housing shortage by living up there."

Turning to Drye on the stand, Kalbfleisch asked

"Have you ever been convicted on this charge?"

The answer was "No, sir."

"Have you ever pleaded guilty to this charge?"

Again the same answer.

"Then, Kalbfleisch continued, "if I were to tell you that on March 30, 1942, you changed your plea of not guilty to guilty on the same charge, would you tell me that it wasn't true?"

Drye said he thought that was on an open bottle of whisky charge.

Kalbfleisch assured him it wasn't. The open bottle charge was placed on April 3, 1939. That case was dismissed.

The 1942 charge cost Drye $100 and costs. A more recent charge for keeping a gambling device, placed on Feb. 7, 1944, cost the proprietor another $100 and costs and $500 bond for good behavior for one year.

TRACTOR ABANDONED

A truck tractor, found abandoned at 8 p. m., Friday on State Route 39 north of Trumble road, was taken from the Sun Glow Industries, Inc., sheriff's deputies said.

Extinguish Fire In Bed Clothing

Quck work by firemen averted serious damage about 1:15 a. m. today at the home of Paul Jewell, 610 West Fourth street, where a mattress and bed clothing caught fire, apparently from a cigaret, firemen said.

Firemen said the third-floor room where the fire occurred was occupied by J. E. Ellson. No one was injured.

Firemen went to the rear of the Roseland grocery about 7 p. m., yesterday to extinguish a blaze in a small building. Flames had spread to it from a grass fire. Damage was slight. About the same time, firemen were called to Lumbermens Heights where flames spread into a wood-lot.

Flares to Guide Motorists Around Flooded Subway Area

A system to prevent out-of-town motorists from becoming lost when they are forced to detour around the Park avenue east subway when it is flooded has been worked out by Street Supt. E. W. Davis.

Davis said he will mark the detour routes with flares at 100-foot intervals which will guide the motorists.

Cars traveling east on Park avenue east will be routed north on Foster street and east on East Fourth street into the Ashland road.

Cars coming west on the Ashland road will follow the same route.

Motorists coming west on U. S. Route 30 into the city will turn right at the subway on to the Ashland road, turn left at Ashland road and follow East Fourth street to Foster street and then south to Park avenue east.

During the heavy rain last Sunday night, a number of motorists became lost at the detour and wandered as far as two miles from their routes.

Doyle Stars, But Varsity Triumphs, 19-13

Varsity Counts 5, Gets Trio

By GAYLE HAYES

Coach Augie Morningstar should be proud of the Varsity football team today. The boys who will be back to tackle the 1948 schedule for the Tyger coach showed a real determination last night in scoring five times for three touchdowns.

After Joe Miller had galloped 77 yards for a touchdown only to see it called back due to a penalty, the underclassmen pushed the leather over again. Then another touchdown pass was nullified because of an infraction of the rules, but another pass clicked to take the sting out of the penalty. The last Varsity touchdown was legal enough the first trip.

★

Movies of the game were taken, and when they are developed the boys will be shown the films to point out their mistakes. It's going to be mighty embarrassing for some of the fellows, no doubt, and it will be interesting to see how far out of bounds Joe Miller went on that touchdown play that was called back.

★

Joe Miller lofted the longest forward pass of the night. He flipped a 50-yard heave from his own 25 to the Seniors' 25, but the leather bounced off Bernie Weaver's helmet and high into the air, falling incomplete. Weaver might have caught the ball before it hit the ground, after bounding from his headgear, but he did not see it soon enough.

★

Fritz Howell, the Associated Press sports editor from Columbus, is considered somewhat of a pipe smoker. In fact, by actual count, Fritz has 33 assorted briars in office and home in Columbus. And he smokes cigars, too.

Fritz left Columbus gnawing and puffing on a stogie, and about 50 miles away from home, when the cigar began to lose a little of its appeal, he reached for a pipe—with no success. He reached again and again in a frantic effort to locate one, but it was no use. He had left them all at home. Every one of the 33.

So Fritz had to stop en route and purchase a brand new pipe—No. 34 of a series.

★

The worst fumble of the game last night did not go into the records. One of the seniors was injured on a play and the trainer rushed from the bench with full first aid kit. After attending the injured gladiator, the attendant of the supplies dropped the kit, and the contents rolled on the ground. Even the officials dropped their official dignity long enough to aid in the recovery of tape, iodine, smelling salts, and assorted equipment.

★

Joe Miller's touchdown scamper along the sidelines caused considerable discussion in the press box. Joe was ruled out of bounds on route to what appeared to be a touchdown, as the officials pointed out he had left the playing field boundary on the 19-yard line.

Many of the so-called experts, in the press box, thought he had stayed within the limits. Since the scribes, visitors, and those lucky enough to escape the cold wind and gain the press box "officiated" the game as well as watched it, they had to agree to run the play over. And then Ken McCally flipped a touchdown pass the very next play.

★

Visitors in the press box, from foreign fields, included Mike Lapine, executive sports editor of the Cleveland Press; Fritz Howell, Associated Press sports editor of Ohio, from Columbus; Dick Kroesen, sporting goods salesman and referee of the Mansfield Relays, from Cleveland; George Seedhouse, with the Cleveland Recreation commission; John Henahan, sports writer for the Cleveland Plain Dealer; Spiv Harris, Mt. Vernon News; Ken Rice, Fostoria Times-Review; Ennis Walker, Shiloh high school coach. Many of the coaches braved the cutting wind to sit in the stands, too.

Ray Mack, Ex-Indian, Stows Away His Gear

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Ray Mack, former Cleveland second baseman, stowed away his baseball gear today.

The burly Pole revealed yesterday that he is retiring from baseball and will seek a position as an engineering salesman. He recently was released by the Chicago Cubs and ordered to the Newark Bears, but refused to report.

Senior Back Gallops for 182 Yards

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

Mansfield Senior high school's 1948 varsity defeated the seniors, 19 to 13, in a spring football game last night at Arlin field but a game one-armed youngster, George Doyle, was the darling of the 2,500 persons who braved the chilly weather.

Doyle did everything for the seniors and did it well. He ran with the ball, caught passes with dispatch, gathered in long, tricky laterals, blocked, tackled, kicked off, scored all 13 points and generally made himself a nuisance to the varsity lads.

Perhaps it was his supurb ball-carrying which gave the crowd its top thrills. Doyle lugged the leather 22 times and piled up the startling total of 182 yards. His top ground-gainer was a reverse from the single-wing but he also smashed the line with conviction. Once he broke away for 36 yards and on two other carries he picked up 19 each time.

That is quite an evening's achievement for a lad who was just a third-stringer last grid season.

JOE MILLER SHINES

Doyle is a former Senior high boxing champion and today is competing in the Mansfield Relays.

Conversion back to left-halfback seems to agree with rugged Joe Miller. He was the top fellow in the varsity backfield, although Ken McCally, a freshman, handled the ball and passed from the T formation like an old hand at the game. Miller had 204 yards on nine efforts.

After Joe Letizia returned the opening kick-off 16 yards to the 26, Miller broke loose on a quick-opener and turned and twisted for 74 yards and an apparent score. However, one of his mates committed an unnecessary clipping and the ball was moved back to the 20. An off-side put the leather on the 34.

PASS CONNECTS

Then McCally cooly threw a "strike" to Bernie Weaver on the two and the big Tyger end stepped over for the counter. Howie Tipper kicked the extra point.

The Seniors roared back after the kick-off and marched 73 yards to score, with Doyle going the last four. Nick Gagich's placement was wide. Injury to Gagich a few moments later dimmed the Seniors' chances considerably.

Coach Augie Morningstar's kids tallied again in the first quarter when McCally flipped a pass to Joe Letizia in the flat and the veteran ball-carrier went 19 yards to score. The TD capped a 52-yard march.

The clincher occured after a Miller to Weaver pass was completed via an interference penalty. The toss was good for 40 yards to the 20. Then Miller went off guard on a twister for the marker.

SENIORS TAKE CHARGE

After the half, the game was all seniors. The varsity gained 267 yards in the first half and only 18 in the second. The seniors picked up 134 and 209. First downs favored the seniors 16 to 8 and they completed two of five passes. The varsity got four of seven.

Doyle, Little Jackie Brandt and Dick Imhoff authored the 38 yard march which gave the seniors their second tally. Doyle went over from the five and kicked the extra point.

The stubborn varsity stopped one 65-yard senior drive on the three and the last year's team had the ball on the 12 as the game ended.

Elnora Kanz Takes Top Rung In N-J Head Pin Tournament With 298 Series

They scrambled the standings in The News-Journal head pin tournament on the Richland alleys last night. Four of the five divisions saw alterations, although Roy Craig clung to the top of the men's open class with his 323 rolled opening day.

Elnora Kanz, firing in Women's Class A, smashed 98, 108, and 92 for a 298 and first place in the open division. She missed the head pin only once over the route, getting a blank in the tenth frame of the third game. She had one five-pin count, and while she scored only seven strikes in 36 trips to the foul line, she bumped off nine pins in 13 other frames.

Elnora was forced to the limit to take the lead, having a two-pin advantage over Arlene Peters, who was bowling on the same shift. Arlene drew a blank in the opening frame of the first game, but followed at a brilliant pace for the next 21 frames. She blasted 12 strikes in 21 shots, had nine-pin counts on six other shots and wound up with a 103, 111 start.

But Elnora missed "louie" the first frame of the final game, missed again in the fourth and again in the seventh, finishing with an 82 and a 296 total.

Hazel Hilborn rolled into first place in the women's Class B, on her 255 total, connected on games of 89, 81 and 83. She displaced Ginnie Rhoads, although Rhoads tumbeld another series of 237, one pin more than she shot her first try.

Bowlers are permitted to roll twice in the head pin tournament if not satisfied with their first total.

There were no changes in the men's Class A, where Roy Craig rules with his flashy 323, followed by Nick Weber on 300 and Jon Klish at 285.

Glen DeWeese fired a snappy 311 in Class B, however, to take third place behind William Bailey's 316 and Adam Noah's 305. Glen tumbled 108 without missing the head pin, but missed twice in a row the second game for a 93 score and had a 110 third game without a break.

★

Five series over the 600 mark were authored in the Moose league last night, with Don Dancer the most potent on a 617 total. Dancer got away slow with 182, but jarred 213 and 222 to follow for his 617 total. Palmer White, on the same team, clubbed 199, 204, and 199 for a 602 total.

Fritz Vogel rapped a 220 middle game and had 203 and 190 around it for a 613 night, while Hal LeMunyon rolled 210, 197, and 200 for 607. Brig Young turned in the other fancy total, with a 232 middle game being a considerable part of the night. He had 188 and 183 his other games for 603.

Other good series were by P. Kozil at 581, Glenn Lanning 556, Glenn Yingling 560, Jon Klish 557, Orlie Grable 550, P. Hipp 565, Bob Hilborn 559, Les Malaska 555, and Red Burger with a 166 third game holding him down to 576.

★

The Mansfield Tire league held its annual banquet at the Liederkranz last night, with awards for 1947-48 being made.

Reverend Arthur Lindbeck, president of the Richland County Ministerial association and pastor at the Mayflower Congregational church, is one of the members of the league, holding a 153 average. Reverend Lindbeck is a "guest" artist in the league since he is not an employe, but is considered "one of the boys" by all hands. Thirty-four of the bowlers did not miss a night last season and 33 others missed only once.

★

Martha Dye paced the Women's B league with 191, 182 and 181 for 554, with Helen Wilhelm getting 147, 203 and 193 for 543. Florence Handwork hit a 211 middle game and had 503 for the night. Gene Yarman topped the Independent league with 568 and Linville Frary had 559. Weakland and Keiser led the Mansfield Tire Owl loop with 527 and 526.

Brewers Blast Columbus Red Birds, 12-3

(By International News Service)

The Milwaukee Brewers apparently are determined to live up to pre-season predictions that they will win the American association championship.

Nick Cullop's sluggers pinned back the ears of the Columbus Red Birds for the second straight time last night, 12 to 3.

It was a close ball game until the seventh, but Milwaukee scored three times in that inning and registered six more in the ninth to turn it into a runaway.

First Baseman Heinz Becker homered for Milwaukee, while Claude Wright and Mike Natisin had round trippers for Columbus.

Kansas City, pennant winner last year, scored its first victory last night defeating Indianapolis, 8 to 6, despite a homer by Les Fleming of the Tribe.

St. Paul kept pace with the Brewers by winning its second in a row. The Saints downed Toledo, 9 to 6, in a slugfest in which the Mud Hens had 14 hits and St. Paul, 13.

Louisville smashed Minneapolis, 6 to 2, to even accounts with the Millers. Pete Modica limited Minneapolis to four hits.

Stymie Races In Excelsior

NEW YORK—(INS)—Stymie, the "Cinderella horse" who once was claimed for $1,500 and now starts the 1948 campaign as the greatest money winner of all time with total earnings of $816,060, makes his initial appearance of the season today.

The Hirsch Jacobs charger is favored to win the Excelsior Handicap at Jamaica, but is just out of winter quarters and may not be up to winning the mile and a sixteenth feature at first asking, in the opinion of some observers.

Expect Fighters For Final Drills

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Buddy Garcia and Steve Belloise were expected to arrive in Cleveland today from New York to wind up preparations for their Tuesday bouts at the Cleveland Arena.

Belloise is matched against Cleveland's Chuck Hunter and Garcia tangles with Joey Carkido of Youngstown. Clevelander Jimmy Bivins meets Pat Valentino of San Francisco in another 10-round feature on the Tuesday card.

Grays Hold Practices

The Mansfield Grays baseball team will practice at 2:30 p. m. Sunday on the Blue Goose diamond. Practices are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday at 4:30 p. m. on the same diamond, Manager Ray Deeds has announced.

Mt. Vernon High Track Team Wins

GALION — Mt. Vernon high track team scored eight first places to defeat Galion at Heise park here, 75-43.

Ronald Myers was high scorer for the meet with 18 points, while Harold Ramsey tallied 10. Both are from Galion. Steve Deedrich of Mt. Vernon had 10 points. Myers won the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and 440.

Ohio State Thinlies Meet Purdue, Spartans

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio State thinclads, Western conference indoor champs, tested their strength in the open air today in a triangular meet with Michigan State and Purdue. It will be the Bucks' first home appearance this season.

Following the track meet, the Ohio State football squad will stage a workout in Ohio stadium.

Willard Wins On Galion Errors, 3-0

GALION—Willard high scored three runs in the second inning to defeat Galion in a Northern Ohio league game this week, 3-0. Dick Voegel blanked the losers with a five-hit job while Leo Smith and Ray Seif held Willard to five hits, but errors cost the home team the game.

Akron North Wins Initial Relay Race

Akron North yesterday opened competition in the far-famed Mansfield Relays by flashing to a record-breaking victory in the gruelling four-mile relay on the Stadium field cinders.

Featuring four men who ran on the Cowboys' state championship cross country team, North won by a comfortable 75-yard margin over two Cleveland duelists — West Tech and Colinwood. All three schools cracked the mark of 19:41.1 set last year by Cleveland Cathedral Latin.

Don Chisam, a state meet finalist last year in the 880, streaked across the finish line in 19:25.2, while West Tech's George Cross edged Collinwood for third. West Tech finished in 19:36.5 while Collinwood was timed in 19.38.1.

ONLY TWO EVENTS

The four-mile and grade school relays were the only two events on yesterday's opening of the country's oldest and classiest schoolboy track and field event. Preliminary events were run off this morning with the finals listed this afternoon.

Sixty-four high schools and 949 individuals were after the title won in 1947 by Columbus Central.

Eight teams competed in the four-mile relay with Mansfield, New Castle, Pa., and Columbus South ending up out of the money. Akron South grabbed fourth place with Cleveland Cathedral Latin finishing in fifth.

WAGNER SPURTS

Akron South and New Castle were one-two after the first mile but Dick Main gave the Cowboys a sizable lead at the half-way point. Then Jack Wagner of the champs built up the 75-yard lead which Chisam held. Wagner is only a sophomore but a great mile prospect.

The victory gave North a two-point lead in the Relays. The scoring follows: Akron North 6, Cleveland West Tech 4, Cleveland Collinwood 3, Akron South 2, Cleveland Cathedral Latin 1.

Bowman and Hedges were victorious in the two sections of the Mansfield grade school relay. Both sections were timed and Hedges' 57.5 seconds won the Sons and Daughters of Herman trophy. Bowman was second with Bushnell, third: Carpenter, fourth, and Newman, fifth.

Four-mile relay—Won by Akron North (Marvin Crosten, Dick Main, Jack Wagner, Don Chisam); Cleveland West Tech, second; Cleveland Collinwood, third; Akron South, fourth; Cleveland Cathedral Latin, fifth. Time—19:25.2. (New record, breaking mark of 19:41.1 set in 1947 by Cathedral Latin)

Grade school 440-yard relay (first section)—Won by Bowman (Richard Yoakam, William Fowler, Bud Chamberlain, Truman Jackson; Bushnell, second; Newman, third; West Fifth, fourth; Western, fifth. Time—1:00.1.

Grade school 440-yard relay (second section)—Won by Hedges (David Jacobs, Pete Grasser, Jack Cline, Eddie Avery); Carpenter, second; Prospect, third; Brinkerhoff, fourth; Woodland, fifth. Time—57.5.

★

Contributions for the 17th running of the Mansfield Relays has swelled to $2,474.50, Norm Wolfe, treasurer of the Tyger club Relays committee, announced today.

Latest contributors are: W. E. Remick, Dr. C. H. Sanborn, Reese Optical company, Paul McConnell, Gaff Dairy and John C. Brunn.

Ohio Staters Blank Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — (INS) — Ohio State was away to a fast start in the Western conference baseball race today after defeating Purdue, 7 to 0, yesterday.

It was the first conference game for both teams. Another game today was to end the current series at Lafayette.

Pete Perini, apparently recovered from a sore shoulder, shut out the Boilermakers with six hits. The Bucks made only seven safeties but tallied three runs in the first and four in the fifth. Centerfielder Ray Gebrardt hit a home run.

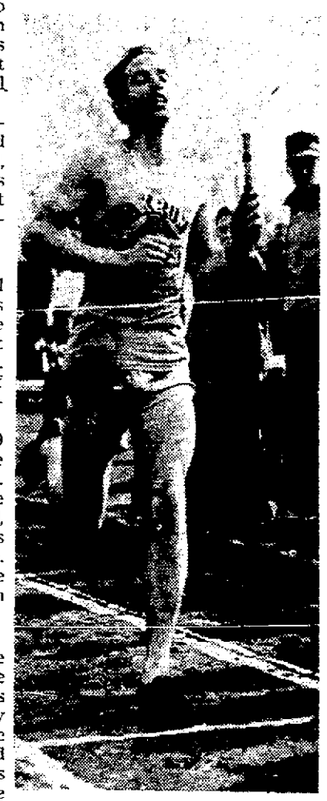
Lefty Gene Brown was expected to hurl for the Bucks today.

Vander Meer to Hurl At Cincinnati Today

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Reds came home today for their first Crosley field appearance of the 1948 season, an exhibition against the Syracuse Chiefs of the International league.

Johnny Vander Meer was named by Manager Johnny Neun to hurl for the Reds, while Jimmy Wallace, formerly with the Boston Braves, will go for the Chiefs.

The Reds cut loose with 17 hits while walloping the Chiefs, 16-2, yesterday at Richmond, Ind.



ALL ALONE — That's Don Chisam, of Akron North, finishing first in a romp as the anchor man of the four-mile relay yesterday in the opening event of the Mansfield Relays. Akron's time of 19:25.2 broke the old meet record by 16 seconds.

Tribesmen Return to Own Field

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Cleveland baseball fans get their first look at the Indians today.

The Cleveland club, termed by Manager Lou Boudreau "the best I've had," was slated to take on the New York Giants today in Cleveland in the first of a two-game series preceding Tuesday's opening day contest against the St. Louis Browns.

Brisk spring weather greeted the Indians on their arrival early today, but the weatherman was forecasting milder conditions and President Bill Veeck was forecasting large crowds for the two games.

JONES TO PITCH

Boudreau nominated Cleveland footballer Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones for starting duty today.

As far as the Tribe is concerned, the return to the comfortable confines of Cleveland stadium is none too soon. The booming bats of the New York Giants boomed once more yesterday at Owensboro, Ky., and Cleveland came out on the short end of a 15-7 count.

Again it was via the home run route that the Giants blasted "our po little boys." The New Yorkers pounded out five home runs which accounted for 11 of their total runs.

Up until the eighth inning, the contest was a slaughter with the Giants leading, 15-0. Cleveland revived enough, however, to rally for six runs in the eighth, featuring Joe Gordon's grand-slam home run, and another in the ninth.

HOMER HITTERS

Bobby Thomson, Walker Cooper, Sid Gordon, Jack Conway and White Lockman each hit for the circuit as the New Yorkers piled up their tremendous advantage.

Cleveland's belated effort began on a single by Jim Hegan. Dale Mitchell cracked another one-bagger to left and Thurman Tucker walked to fill the bases.

Big Pat Seerey rifled a single to left to score Hegan and Mitchell. Johnny Berardino again filled the sacks by drawing a walk, setting the stage for Gordon's four-run homer.

Cleveland scored its final run on consecutive singles by Hal Peck, Mitchell and Tucker.

Bob Muncrief started for Cleveland and was tagged for five runs and the loss in two innings. Lyman Linde and Les Webber were equally ineffective in their stints on the hill.

Records Due To Break At Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kans.—(U.P.)—The first rash of record smashing since pre-war days was promised today at the 23rd annual Kansas relays.

Decathlon stars performed yesterday as the mammoth sports show opened but the meet's most glittering stars were on the slate today. They included at least four athletes capable of shattering world records and winning points for the U. S. Olympic team in London later this year.

Irving "Moon" Mondschein, N.Y.U. star and three-time winner of the A. A. U. decathlon crown, rolled up 3,815 points yesterday to lead at the half-way mark. He is rated a cinch for an Olympic berth.

DISCUS AND SHOT

On today's card are Fortune Gordien, Minnesota's discus hope, who was almost sure to crack the relays mark in his special event, and Charles Fonville, Michigan's great Negro shotput artist.

But while Gordien and Fonville were sure to stand out, the real dazzle was expected from Harrison Dillar, Baldwin-Wallace's Negro hurdler. He has consistently shown he has no respect for records and in the 120-yard high hurdles he will have the opportunity to win his 54th consecutive track victory.

Shelby Bowling Tourney Begins

SHELBY — A handicap partners bowling tournament will be held at the Reynolds Recreation hall starting today and continuing until May 30.

The tourney is open to all Shelby bowlers with an established average. Bowlers can be two men, two women or man and woman. No [illegible] blanks are needed and competitors can roll any time.

Strong Bows Out of Game

NEW YORK—(INS)—Age bowed to youth today when the retirement of Ken Strong from the New York Giants of the National Football league was announced.

The grizzled place-kicking specialist, whose career is one of the longest in the history of professional football, will be replaced by John Brieske, former Michigan kicking star.

Strong, an All-American at New York university away back in 1928 when he led the nation's scorers with 162 points, is the Giants' all-time high scorer with 351 points.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md.—(U.P.)—Calumet farm's Citation gets his chance to take a lot of Kentucky Derby winter book bettors off an aspirin diet today when he runs against Mrs. Helen Sagner's Saggy in the $25,000 Chesapeake stakes at Havre De Grace.

Guest Pastors to Occupy Five Church Pulpits Sunday

Delaware Man Bids For Vacancy

Congregation Seeks Fontaine's Successor

Five Mansfield churches will welcome guest pastors to their pulpits tomorrow.

Rev. H. C. Jeffers of Wilmington, Del., will speak before members of the East Mansfield United Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and evening as a candidate for the pastorate.

The pulpit at the church has been vacant since last fall when Rev. Edwin F. Fontaine left for New York to accept another pastorate. Arrangements for Rev. Jeffer's appearance here tomorrow are in charge of the church council, headed by W. Earl Briggs.

At the Park Avenue Baptist church, Dr. D. R. Sharpe, executive secretary of the Cleveland Baptist association, will preach at the morning service. Dr. Sharpe is well known to the Mansfield congregation, having spoken here several times.

VACANT SINCE APRIL 1

The pulpit at Park Avenue Baptist church has been vacant since Rev. Albert L. Linder left April 1 to become associated with the College of Youngstown as student pastor.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Helen Wright, of the First Church of God, 265 West Third street, Rev. William V. Ramey of Delaware will speak. Rev. Wright is assisting in revival services in northern Indiana.

Due to the absence of Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the Central Methodist church, Rev. Don Adams, one of the church's young ministers, will fill the pulpit Sunday evening. Rev. Stewart will be speaking at the opening session of the evangelistic campaign in Tiffin.

For the third centennial event of the Sunday school at the First Lutheran church, Dr. J. Harold Mumper, editor of the Sunday school literature of the United Lutheran church, Philadelphia, Pa., will speak tomorrow morning.

The Return From Exile — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Ezra 1-6; Haggai

After Persia had conquered Babylon, Cyrus came to the Persian throne, and by royal decree gave his permission that the children of Israel might return to their homeland

Nebuchadnezzar had destroyed the temple at Jerusalem and taken away the precious vessels. Cyrus, through his treasurer, Mithredath, gave them back to the Jewish priests.

On their return to Jerusalem the Jews started to rebuild the temple, but some persons who did not like the Jews' return, argued with them and stopped the building.

For two years building ceased, then Haggai encouraged Zerubbabel, heir of Jehoiachin, to begin again and the temple was finished with joy

MEMORY VERSE—Haggai 2:4.

Editors Hit Censorship

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors was expected to express formal opposition today to any kind of peacetime censorship of news.

Richard W. Clarke, executive editor of the New York Daily News, said a censorship resolution would be brought up at the final session of the society's annual convention here, along with at least a half dozen other proposals.

Before adjourning the three-day meeting, the editors also were to elect officers for the coming year and hear an address by President Truman.

Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monotor, was slated to succeed N. R. Howard, editor of the Cleveland News, as president of the society.

Plea to Halt Train Opposed

COLUMBUS — (AP) — An attorney-examiner for the state utilities commission recommends the Pennsylvania Railroad be denied permission to abandon two Columbus-Akron passenger trains.

Thomas W. Maxson, also commission secretary, made the recommendation yesterday.

In hearings on the proposal last fall before Maxson, the railroad argued it was losing money on the two trains. They were train 604, leaving Akron at 2:20 p. m. and arriving at Columbus at 6:15 p. m., and train 605, leaving Columbus at 8:15 a. m. and arriving at Akron at 12:20 p. m. They serve Mount Vernon and many other way points.

Both trains currently are out of service because of the coal shortage. If the commission approves Maxson's report, the road will be required to put them back in operation.

Pageant to Close Observance Of Sunday School Centennial

Closing event for the centennial celebration of the Sunday School at the First English Lutheran church will be held tomorrow night when members present a pageant depicting scenes from the Sunday school history.

The pageant has been written by George H. Hoover. It is directed by Mrs. Leroy McGinty. It contains four scenes, starting with the founding of the Sunday school in 1848.

The first scene tells the story of a council meeting at the time Rev. J. H. Huffman was pastor, the year the Sunday school was established.

In the second scene, three mothers of the church in the year 1852, met with the pastor, Rev. Simon Fenner to talk over the dwindling of Sunday school attendance and lack of interest.

The third scene takes place in 1894 in the old brick church which stood at the corner of West Second and Walnut steets, now the location of Herring's Garage. There Dr. H. L. Wiles, then pastor, presided over a meeting of Sunday school officials, according to the pageant story.

The fourth scene brings events up to this year when pastors and Sunday school officials meet to discuss plans for the centennial.

In the cast are: H. J. Boals, William Lantz, Russell McCullough, Robert McCullough, Fred Ohler, Martin Remlong, Clayson Bell, Robert Harbaugh, George Culler, Fred Herbrand, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eller, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolford, Mrs. R. L. Traxler, Walter Epley, Clyde J. Blair, L. J. Cashell, Mrs. Freda Lutz, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, Richard Wolford, George Hoover, Harry Leach, Richard Hunt, Rev. Olan W.
